

Ranita Sharma, M.D.

Ranita Sharma, M.D. was appointed Director of the Internal Medicine Residency Program in July 2005. A graduate of Syracuse University and Kasturba Medical College in India, she completed her medicine residency and chief residency at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School. She was inducted by students to the Alpha Omega Alpha and Arnold P. Gold Humanism Honor Societies in 2005. She was inducted into the Master Educators' Guild in 2012. She is an active member of the American College of Physicians, having completed a four year term as Governor for Northern New Jersey in 2014. Her clinical practice includes hospital and office-based medicine.